

State agencies the first to embrace Geaux Ride ride-sharing app

Geaux Ride, a new ride-sharing app hosted by the Capital Region Planning Commission (CRPC), allows commuters to create profiles and find other people to carpool with saving stress and money. Four state agencies, Department of Environmental Quality, Department of Natural Resources, Wildlife and Fishers and the Department of Transportation and Development are encouraging their employees to use the application.

The app's website has online tools that will allow users to see how much they save by using the app, as well as the environmental benefits. For more information about Geaux Ride and how you can get it for your workplace, email Jtsukits@brgov.com at CRPC, or go the website: www.geauxride.com.
